RTC: Dazzling Success!

Volume 1 Issue 8

On October 17th, 2009, Scripps Ranch High School was buzzing with energy. The spirit and enthusiasm took on an almost physical and tangible composition as Key Clubbers started arriving at 12:00 PM for check in. There is no doubt on anyone's mind looking back that this year's RTC was an amazing success. The success of this event could be attributed to so many factors: the amazing workshops (and valued guest speakers, we cannot thank them enough!), the amazing turn out, the awesome general sessions (and silly LTG skit, "Look out it's the evil Regional Advisor! RAWWRR!") and above all the mind blowing Key Club spirit. This event went above the stars and into the Milky Way thanks to all your guys' love and support. I could never ask for a better division; thank you for always exceeding my expectations and delivering far beyond what I thought was even possible. Remember that fun asides though that RTC was also a learning experience. I hope that each and every one of you gained new knowledge about your positions or about service or maybe some inspiration for future leadership roles through the workshops at RTC. If you know someone who missed out on the event but would be interested in some of the information that was presented, or if you have any questions about anything presented, do not hesitate to ask.

Key Leader

After returning from the mountains of Julian, our two Autobot LTGs represented region two at Key Leader and reported back with amazing stories and crazy inside jokes that will make absolutely no sense to anyone else. A great time was had by all:

(Alanna Le D37N): Students from all over Southern California arrived on Friday November 23 for the annual Key Leader event in Julian, California. As the night started, dinner, icebreakers, and meeting new people took place. Led by Nancy Short, the lead facilitator of the event, teenagers began the journey to excellence. This event wasn't only limited to Key Clubbers, but to KIWIN'S or just normal high school teenagers. Further developing leadership skills were the task for all the attendees, along with making new friends and having a great time. Eventually, breaking everybody off into smaller families developed an awesome bonding time between these groups. Taking the risk and climbing up a 7 foot wall and building the teamwork was the opportunity attendees had. Only three days made a group so close and sadly, Sunday afternoon broke out tears and farewells for some.

(Alexander Pham D21): Key Leader is a program for today's young leaders. This life-changing event focuses on service leadership as the first, most meaningful leadership development experience." Blah. That's what it says online. But it is it true? Totally! But I would say something along the lines of... Key Leaders life changing, fun, and awesome! I didn't expect it to change my life. I was just like, what is this stuff their teaching us? But it did... Just a few memorable events...dancing to Taylor Swift, shouting out random cheers like "PANDAHSS", climbing a 10 foot wall, smores, yellow water, and last but certainly not least Larry! Larry is a person we learned about who although disabled, spent his life collecting money for charities. And although he was annoying to his neighbors, when his only family member (who took care of him) died, his community came together to help him out. Those were the virtues that we learned at Key Leader. Personal growth - although Larry was mentally ill, he strived for better by always trying to help others. Respect & community - His community was there for him, just like he was always with his community. Pursuit of excellence - only someone like Larry could raise half a million for charity (what a beast! J). But what is one main reason why Key Leader was awesome? Honestly...I can't say...it was that good.

Up Ahead on the next break for Division 37 North Surfers is domination at Fall Rally! Being spirited and having fun is the goal for Fall Rally. In the next couple of weeks, dues process will be taking place for club. However, around December will be a Divisional Event, which I won't give away! Standouts for this month goes to Rancho Buena Vista for fundraising 275 dollars for Pediatric Trauma Prevention!

Hey everyone...has school gotten to you yet? It hit me pretty hard...you know...playing killer all the time...but ANYWAYS I know how to hit it back!! I am going to Fall Rally!! Fashoooo! Hahaha. Just kidding. But Fall Rally is literally the biggest Key Club event anyone can ever go to. First of all... our District is the biggest District with about 40,000 people, then we bring so much people that we can't fit them in the stadium at once; we have to have three separate rallies. THEN...that's about it ☺

6,000 people get together to raise money for the Pediatric Trauma Program (PTP). We all love Key Club, we all love helping, and we all are awesome for being soo good!

Although we are going there in numbers of about 285, and we will be surrounded by many other spirited Key Clubbers, I think we can do it! We did it once, and we'll do it again (if you don't get that part ask me...I didn't want to write it down.)

But until then, stay good! Stay in school. Don't do drugs. Don't drink. And get ready to cheer your lungs out! Whether it be by screaming on rides, or screaming at the rally. See you then!

Can you call this crazy Key Club season or what? With RTC finally underway there isn't much time to breathe while FALL RALLY is coming up so soon! I am so extremely to hear though amidst all the stressful hours that come from planning Fall Rally the excitement my Red Bulls have not only for Fall Rally but for other famous divisional events that are coming up soon, including our annual 30 hour famine. It is so great to hear their enthusiasm for the events that we do that it always makes any stressful day worthwhile no matter how time consuming things may turn out to be. I just know my Red Bulls are ready for Fall Rally and will be bearing their red horns with full blown spirit that will simply knock the socks out of everyone at Six Flags. REED BULLS FOR LIFE.

Dues Assistance!

Dues are getting turned in, and with that some frustrations and questions inevitably arise. It is understandable that no matter how many workshops you attend, no matter how many PowerPoint's explain the process, turning in dues is confusing. And, it's okay! For those who are having troubles this section will hopefully be able to give you some direction in the mist of your frustration and ease some of the stress.

One of the most common issues with dues is the placement of the new account password.- every year, around August-September the password will be mailed (snail mail) to your current FACULTY ADVISOR. Any problems with passwords or if you cannot find it should be directed towards your current faculty adviser. If you got a new adviser this year and they do not have the password try contacting your previous advisor.

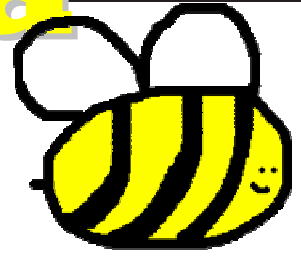

If there are other issues, whether the website is not letting you log on or you mistyped something and do not know how to go back, these issues would be best addressed by the International officers themselves because they are in charge of the Membership Update Center. To contact them, call 1-800-KIWANIS anytime before 2:00 PM from Monday to Fridays.

Good luck to all your treasurers and secretaries out there; you really are the troopers of the group especially at this time. Especially with something as important as this, remember that you can never ask too many questions. Your LTG, Regional Adviser and Key Club International are all here to help.
